

Master of International Development Administration

As the professional market continues to demand specialized knowledge and advanced degrees, graduate studies are progressively a practical, sophisticated, and wise career move. This interdisciplinary masters program has unique advantages.

- ✓ Become competitive with an internationally recognized masters degree.
- ✓ Expand global network through a multicultural and professional student body.
- ✓ Meet highly qualified faculty with international and community development experience.
- ✓ Work while you study.
- ✓ Study in Alberta each May.
- ✓ Appropriate degree for humanitarian workers, administrators, public servants, education, health, or social/community needs professionals.
- ✓ Affordable financial package.
- ✓ Provides skills to manage projects in diverse and complex settings.
- ✓ Requires bachelor, or equivalent, as a pre requisite.

Curriculum

- Requires 39 semester credits.
- Focus on the framework and best practices for strategic project management
- Core courses explore social science foundations in understanding people-centered development.
- Principles in organizational behavior, administration, and leadership as they relate to non-profit organizations.
- Explore ethical principles affecting individual and organizational accountability.
- Identify the process of policy making and communication.
- Customize area of specialization to further career goals.
- Mentoring research environment for field practicum and research project/thesis.

Uniqueness

The interdisciplinary and interschool approach makes this graduate program distinctive. Courses are included from the School of Business, College of Arts and Sciences, School of Education, and Theological Seminary.

Degrees earned through this program are awarded by Andrews University. Founded in 1874, Andrews is a non-profit institution of higher education which embodies a mission of service and leadership. www.andrews.edu

Canadian University College is a Christian university with almost 500 students coming from all over North America and various international locales. We provide an environment where academic, physical, and spiritual growth is encouraged. www.cauc.ca

International Development Curriculum

- Degree: Master of International Development Administration (MIDA)
- Venue: Canadian University College, Alberta, Canada
- Language of Instruction: English
- Canada session meets in May
- Tuition Cost for 2012: USD 3,600

| Core Courses (29 Credits) | | | |
|---|--|--|---|
| 2012 | 2013 | 2014 | 2015 |
| Needs Assessment and Capacity Mapping CIDS530 (3) | Organizational Behavior for Managers BSAD525 (3) | Financial Analysis and Reporting ACCT625 (3) | Cultural & Development Anthropology ANTH517 (2) |
| Development Design & Evaluation CIDS535 (3) | Management of Not-for-Profit Organizations BSAD530 (3) | Ethics in Development IDSC610 (2) | Development Theory and Practice CIDS520 (3) |
| | Communication in Development Practice COMM590 (2) | Public Policy, Civil Society and Development PLSC525 (2) | |
| Development Research and Applied Statistics (online course taken in the second year in the program) EDPC622 (3) | | | |

| Concentration Courses (10 Credits) |
|---|
| <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Portfolio • Professional Training • Field Practicum • Specialization Essay • Research Project |

| Concentration Topics Include... |
|--|
| <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Advocacy • Agro Forestry • Civil Society • Cross Cultural Relations • Development Policies of Government and Religion • Disaster Preparedness • Education • Environmental Studies • Food Security • Gender and Development • International Agriculture • Local Governance • Microenterprise • NPO Policies and Operations • Peace and Conflict Resolution • Poverty Mitigation • Public Health • Regional Planning |

| Contacts | |
|---|--|
| Dr. Marc D. Froese, Director International Studies Program Canadian University College +1 403 782 3381 ext 4087 mfroese@cauc.ca | Dawn Dulhunty, Director International Development Program Andrews University +1 269 471 3668 idp@andrews.edu |